

- An automatic normalization for DCE-MRI is proposed
- Correction of intensity shift and scale and time shift
- The method is used in conjunction with quantitative methods
- Normalization lead to the better classification performance
- Classification of whole normalized DCE signals outperform other methods